JANITORS' PAY IS INCREASED

School Board Votes Boost Of $5-$10 In Salaries of Custodians

Wage increases, ranging from $5 to $10 a month, were approved for the 10 public school janitors by board of education members at their monthly meeting Monday night.

The raises will bring the janitors' salaries more in line with wages paid for similar duties in other districts, it was pointed out.

The amount of the salary increase depends upon the individual janitor's service record and his wages.

Plan Special Meetings

A special meeting of the school board will be held Monday night, May 4, to discuss the appointment of teachers for the new school year. Formal appointments will be made at the next regular meeting June 7.

Supt. E. S. Kerr last night reported the resignation of E. L. Wagstaff, high school woodwork shop instructor, and also the resignation of his own secretary, Miss Reba Dilworth.

Wagstaff has secured employment with the Curtis-Wright Co. at Columbus, while Miss Dilworth will work for the college of arts and sciences at Ohio State university.

The salary of Miss Florence England, high school secretarial staff member, was increased to $75 a month.

Repairs Authorized

School board members discussed further repairs to the public school buildings, authorizing Contractor R. H. Sponeller to replace a number of rotted window sills in the high school building and to proceed with caulking and pointing operations at the Columbia and Reilly grade school buildings.

Caulking and roof repair work was done to the high school building before cold weather set in.

The board authorized the elementary school principals' attendance at a reading clinic at Ohio State university the latter part of May, designed to help institute programs in the local schools which will help pupils in their reading.

The reading workshop at Ohio State is being sponsored by Dr. Wilma Rosebrook of the university who recently spent a week in the Salem elementary schools.

K. of C. Bond Drive Is Oversubscribed

The April War Bond drive of the Salem Knights of Columbus lodge was oversubscribed by $200, it was revealed at the organization's dinner meeting Monday night at the Lape hotel. The goal was $5,400.

The Knights of Columbus national War bond drive campaign for the month was for $25,000,000.

Short talks were given last night by Rev. Fr. J. Herbert Cook, chaplain of the council; Robert Tubbs, district deputy; John McNicol, president of the Holy Name society; and Ray P. Pfeiffer, a member of the council who discussed the proposed organization of boys in a junior K. of C.

Officers will be elected at the next meeting of the council June 14 in the club rooms.

Last night's meeting was in charge of Ralph Whiteleather, deputy grand knight.

TAKE TIN CANS TO TOWNSHIP HOUSE

Perry Residents Make Contributions to Depot Rd. Headquarters

While service department trucks again scoured the city today in search of flattened tin cans which residents were asked to place on their curb lawns, Galen Greenstein, chairman of the Perry township salvage committee, asked township residents to take their tin cans to the township house on the Depot road.

There will be no house-to-house canvass in the rural areas. The township house is situated on the Depot road, just south of Salem. Cans may be taken there anytime this week except Saturday. The building will be open from 8 a. m. to 4:30 p. m.

Many Salem residents, apparently, forgot to put the tin cans out yesterday, necessitating a backtracking of the routes today.

In canvassing the entire east side area today, service department workers rounded up another ton of the metal. Service Director Frank Wilson reported at noon.

Tomorrow's schedule calls for a tour of the area north of State st. and west of Edgeworth, and Thursday, south and west of Edgeworth, providing the Wednesday canvass is completed in order. Although the trucks made back calls today due to poor pickups Monday, Wilson emphasized that no more second trips would be made. The canvassing will be done rain or shine.

Persons who failed to get their tin cans out on time are asked to turn to TAKE TIN, Page 8

SECOND WAR LOAN DRIVE IS SUCCESS

WASHINGTON, May 4—The Second War Loan drive brought in about $17,000,000,000 or about $4,000,000,000 more than the goal, and most of it came from non-banking sources.

The treasury expects to announce the final total about May 10. Banking houses were limited to $5,000,000,000 participation.

Secretary Morgenthau expressed satisfaction at the success of the drive, which ended at midnight Saturday, and at the same time served notice of even greater goals for future campaigns.

"The unprecedented sum borrowed in this campaign reflects the earnestness and vigor of our national war effort," Morgenthau said.

Tokyo Official Compares Nippon Reserves With Those of Allies

(By Associated Press)

A Japanese official called attention today to American and British war production and asserted that the mikado's armies now had reserve material left for only "a short period of the war."

A Tokyo broadcast quoted Kisanosuke Yamada, high war production official, as saying:

"The productive strength of America and Britain is pitted against the productive strength of our nation. Strength of production is strongest in America. Ships, planes and other things are being produced at a tremendous rate."

In Australia Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters disclosed that admittedly "heavy" Allied losses suffered in a battle Sunday over the Arufara sea off Darwin, Australia, were caused by violent winds—not by Japanese fighting skill.

A spokesman said Allied fighters pursued the Japanese raiders far out over the sea, and when they headed for home they ran into buffeting headwinds. Some were unable to land, others crashlanded on the Australia shore.

The extent of Allied losses was not given, but a spokesman said three pilots were missing after the battle against 21 enemy bombers and 30 fighters. At least 13 Japanese planes were destroyed, and it was considered likely that others failed to reach their home base in the bad weather.

HOOR ORDER WOULD HIKE STEEL WAGES

WASHINGTON, May 4—Steel industry sources said today War Manpower Commissioner Paul V. McNutt's order to put the industry on a compulsory 48-hour week would boost steel payrolls by $100,000,000 a year.

The increases would come from payment of time and a half wages for all hours worked above 40, a provision of the wage and hour law.

The industry sources, who declined use of their names, contended that while this would mean a pay hike for more than 500,000 steel workers it would neither increase steel production nor reduce labor requirements.

The industry, they said, already has been producing ingots for some time at the rate of more than 99 per cent of capacity with an average work-week of 41.6 hours for all employees.

McNutt's order, issued Saturday night, decreed establishment of a 48-hour work week by July 1 and forbade blast furnaces, steel works and rolling mills to hire any new workers after June 1 unless they are operating on a 48-hour schedule.

McNutt said the order would reduce losses of workers by steel plants to other war plants "which have offered greater opportunity in overtime pay."

Steel spokesmen said, however, that the industry had not suffered greatly by such losses of workers thus far.

COUNTY TOPS WAR LOAN GOAL BY $1,208,544

Hits $8,383,544. With Salem Oversubscribing Quota by $787,423

TWO TOWNS FAIL TO REACH QUOTAS

Salem, In Two Drives, Has Purchased $4,545,023 In U. S. Securities

Columbiana county exceeded its goal of $7,175,000 in the Second War Loan drive which ended Saturday night by $1,208,544, including an over-subscription of $787,423 in Salem, final figures compiled this morning revealed.

The total of $8,383,544 was announced by County Chairman Russ C. Heddlston of East Liverpool, who reported that only two towns, Columbiana and Salineville, failed to reach their quotas.

Salem's final report showed a total of $2,898,423.85. East Liverpool and Wellsville, with a combined quota of $3,081,000, exceeded that by $160,418.38.

East Palestine raised $555,075, exceeding its quota by $85,075, and the Lisbon area, including six townships, had a total of $609,009.25, or $81,009.25 above its quota.

Leontonia topped its quota of $152,000 by $13,527. Chairman Edward C. Greenamyer reported $30 sales totaling $165,527.

New Waterford and Rogers combined to raise $170,700, or $5,700 over their quota.

Columbiana raised $671,391, a sizeable sum for that community but not quite up to the quota. Salineville, which raised $72,000, also was slightly under its quota.

Chairman Heddlston announced that 9,598 sales were reported in the county. Salem had a total of 2,714 and East Liverpool 3,394.

In the first war loan drive in December, Salem raised $1,646,600, which topped the goal by $205,600. With its total of $2,898,423 in the second drive, Chairman Ralph Hawley reported that Salem had purchased government securities totaling $4,545,023 in the two drives.

Operator-Miner Deadlock Holds; WLB Still Factor

WASHINGTON, May 4—Fuels Administrator Ickes said today the deadlock between coal mine owners and operators remains the same as it has been except that the miners have gone back to work now for another 15 days.

Ickes, who a little earlier in the day had ordered a six-day work week throughout the coal mining industry, said that negotiations for a settlement of the miner-operator wage dispute would have to be conducted directly by representatives of the owners and union, "subject to approval by the War Labor board."

"There is no way out if it means by-passing the War Labor board."

"Negotiations must be carried out by representatives of the operators and miners subject to approval by the War Labor board."

RECORD-BREAKING WAR PRODUCTION LISTED IN MARCH

Aircraft, War and Merchant Ships Set Pace; Arms Output Short

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 4—Record-breaking production totals for aircraft, warships and merchant ships were rolled up in March, Donald M. Nelson reported today, but first-quarter arms output still fell far short of the rate needed to meet military plans for 1943.

Aircraft output soared to 6,200 planes and heavy four-engine bombers topped the 500-a-month rate for the first time, the War Production board chairman disclosed in his ninth and most detailed monthly production report.

More Big Ships Coming

Naval and cargo ship construction was "the greatest on record," Nelson said, noting the completion of the 45,000-ton battleship Iowa in March, and hinting, in these words, that more are coming.

"It is expected that from now on many of the larger warships started early in the war effort will be coming into active service."

A report of increased production came also from Secretary of the Navy Knox, who told his press conference the nation has "arrived at the peak period" of war production and that navy plane and ship output in April set new records.

Combat aircraft delivered to the navy, Knox said, "ran to four figures for the first time."

Moreover, the number of new vessels of all classes except landing craft completed by the navy during the first four months of this year, the secretary said, was equivalent "to a 25 per cent increase in the numerical strength of the fleet and its auxiliaries, over January 1 of this year."

April was a good month in more ways than production, Knox reported. He said that merchant ship losses were down considerably as compared with March, adding, "Just why, and how long that will continue I do not know."

Overall munitions output in March was 11 per cent above February, although the daily rate change was small because February was three days shorter. Taking the first three months together,

SEEKS ARMY FROM CAPTURED TROOPS

(By Associated Press)

STOCKHOLM, May 4—The German high command, according to reports from usually trustworthy sources, is so pressed for men that it is trying to raise an army of 300,000 to 500,000 among captured Russian soldiers and civilians in the occupied Baltic states under a former Soviet general now in Nazi hands.

The proposed force, it was said, would include only those "thought to be reliable from the Nazi point of view."

The Frankfurter Zeitung said the closing of stores, business houses, small workshops and restaurants in Germany "did not free as many workers for the armament industry as was at first thought possible."

Dr. Alfred Rosenberg, Nazi administrator of German-occupied territories in eastern Europe, was declared to be opposed to the army's attempt to raise levies in the territories under his jurisdiction, and the reported persistence of the high command was seen as a gauge of the terrific Nazi need for additional manpower.

ICKES ORDERS SIX-DAY WEEK IN COAL MINES

Operators Failing to Obey Will Lose Price Ceiling Increases

OVERTIME PAY FOR 6TH DAY DECREED

Work Is Resumed Generally Following Week-end Strike Crisis

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 4—Fuels Administrator Harold L. Ickes today ordered a six-day week throughout the coal mining industry as work generally was resumed after a week-end strike crisis.

The order was telegraphed to approximately 3,850 mine operators now running their properties as agents for the government.

Ickes said mines failing to operate six days weekly would suffer cancellation of the price ceiling increases granted them by the Office of Price Administration to cover the added costs of overtime pay.

Ickes' order to the mine operators went out as the first day of a two-week temporary truce found the miners busily digging the war vital fuel with Uncle Sam as their new boss. The fuel administrator's directive said:

"Since maximum prices have recently been increased by the Office of Price Administration to permit operations of mines on a six-day week work basis you are to afford miners an opportunity to work six days each week and are to operate mines under your charge on that basis and to pay time and one-half or rate and one-half for sixth day work or as theretofore agreed upon by collective bargaining and previously cleared by war labor board."

Calls for Production

"The government is relying upon you and all mine employees to exercise utmost effort in maintaining and increasing production of coal so vital to the winning of the war."

"If for any justifiable physical or operating reason a six-day week basis is not feasible, timely application for exemption from this directive may be made together with full supporting statement with underlying reasons."

"I intend to recommend to the Office of Price Administration that the increase in maximum prices for six-day week operation be rescinded."

DENIES INCREASE TO FOUNDRY UNION

WLB Says Men Have Had Boosts In Excess of 15 Per Cent Limit

WASHINGTON, May 4—The War Labor board has been denied a joint application of the Quaker City Foundry of Salem, Ohio, and the Molders and Foundry Workers union, AFL, for pay increases ranging from two cents to five cents an hour for the company's 80 employees.

The board's announcement said the action was in accordance with a wage stabilization policy and that the employees had received wage increases in excess of 15 per cent over their January, 1941, earnings of 69.5 cents.

However, labor members of the board dissented from denial of the increase.

Because many are filing Victory tax returns for the first time, the office of the deputy internal revenue collector at the postoffice, accepted these returns today despite the fact that the quarterly period ended Friday.

For the accommodation of these returns, Judge will keep the office open here the last day of each month in addition to the regular Tuesday hours.

SICILY, SARDINIA SEEN AS TARGETS OF ALLIED ARMIES

Axis Fears Landings Will Be Tried There Before Tunisia Falls

LONDON, May 4.—The Vichy radio said today Allied movements reported simultaneously at Gibraltar and in Algerian waters may point to a large scale invasion attempt against Sicily and Sardinia, island stepping stones from North Africa to the European mainland. The broadcast was recorded by Reuters.

Germany's chief military commentators suggested in a broadcast that major Allied forces might pounce immediately on the two islands without waiting for the end of the campaign to drive the Axis out of Tunisia.

The German fear of landings on these islands has been betrayed by numerous broadcasts recently, and Capt. Ludwig Sertorius said last night:

"It is possible that the Allied high command has refrained from throwing in the mass of its reserves on the Tunisian front because it is planning a large-scale landing operation. It may be planning a landing on the Sicilian or Sardinian coast even before the Tunisian campaign comes to an end."

The German commentators' foreboding followed reports by the Nazi-controlled stations that a huge concentration of Allied shipping was being assembled at Gibraltar, including a number of landing barges.

Seriousness said the American Fifth Army being held in reserve in Algeria and Morocco under Lieut. Gen. Mark W. Clark was being trained as the nucleus of several Allied armies.

Lieut. Gen. Kurt Dietmar, German high command radio commentator, acknowledged that southern Europe affords "particularly favorable conditions for landing."

NATIONS COUNCIL IS URGED BY GOP

CHICAGO, May 4—Deneen A. Watson, chairman of the midwest conference of the Republican Post-war Policy association, urged today the "establishment of a council of nations" as one of five fundamentals necessary to the attainment of a lasting peace.

Watson, in a prepared address, told delegates to the one day session of the midwest conference of the association, that ordinary men and women of the GOP party "are determined not to repeat the mistakes of 1919 and 1920" and that "the way to beat Mr. Roosevelt in his fourth term grab is to take the foreign issue away from him."

"Once assured of the soundness of the foreign policy of the Republican party, millions of Independents and Democrats will join with us and vote to end this stumbling confusion" of the New Deal, he said.

CURFEW NEEDED IN SALEM

In cities all around Salem action has been taken recently to enact curfew ordinances or to enforce those in existence banning girls under 17 from city streets late at night. This concerted, and somewhat sudden, attention to the curfew is aimed principally at reducing "pick-ups" of teen-age girls by soldiers. Hundreds of soldiers from camps a few miles away flock into the cities at night and particularly over the week-end and the glamour of the uniform has lured young girls to taverns and other night spots as well as loitering in the streets.

Salem is far enough removed from an army camp to escape any large influx of soldiers, but it has not escaped the growing tendency of teen-age girls and boys to visit night spots and loiter on the streets and in restaurants at all hours of the night. In recent weeks this practice has been increasing and on some nights scores of them roam the streets long after midnight, gathering in restaurants long after other night spots have been closed.

This condition has become so noticeable as to bring more or less general comment and questions as to why a curfew is not enacted and enforced in Salem. That's exactly what should be done, and without delay. It is a condition which might well concern many local organizations and The News suggests that they start a united demand for the enforcement of a curfew.

THE WAR LOAN DRIVE

Salem has many reasons to be proud of its part in the Second War Loan drive which closed Saturday night. It was the first city in the county to exceed its quota and its percentage of over-subscription—nearly 38 per cent—was much higher than any other community in the county reported. It was the second time it could claim such a record, for in the December drive it led the county by a wide margin.

To sell more than two million dollars worth of government securities in the three weeks of the April drive seemed like a tremendous task when the Victory Fund committee outlined its plans, and it was a real accomplishment on the part of the people of Salem when they purchased approximately two million, nine hundred thousand dollars worth of these securities.

Insofar as raising this huge amount is concerned, the drive was a great success, and the writer, who was chairman of the drive, fully appreciates the work of his committee and the response of the public. But in some respects the campaign here, as well as in most other places throughout the country, was not the complete success it appears to have been. It is true that about two millions of the total raised here came from the public, the remainder from the banks. However, more than $800,000 of the grand total was in the form of tax savings notes, which give the government the money a little ahead of time but which in effect do little to finance the war and help reduce inflation.

What the banks purchase adds only to the inflationary trend. If both purposes of these war loan drives—anti-inflation and financing the war effort—are to be fully achieved, the great bulk of the purchases must come from the individual. It is necessary that all loan to their government the money they do not need for absolute necessities, plus the idle money to be found in safe deposit boxes, in receptacles at home, etc., where it is doing the owner no good. As long as this money remains idle, inflation is bound to increase and the government must make another loan drive within a comparatively short time.

There was much evidence of additional purchases by these now contributing to the war effort through payroll deductions, but there were not enough subscriptions from those who have larger amounts which should be loaned to their government in time of war.

VICHY DIES HARD

The mystery of the state department's policy on dealing with the Vichy influence in French affairs is deepened by the minor explosion against Admiral George Robert, pro-Vichy high commissioner of the French Antilles and key figures in the affairs of the island of Martinique.

Admiral Robert, having been handled with gloves, is now being handled without gloves because the state department believes that anyone loyal to Vichy almost must be loyal to Hitler. While this is the conclusion reached long ago by most laymen it has been reached reluctantly and belatedly by the state department.

However, so well cloaked are the department's diplomatic moves and the reasons behind them that laymen simply aren't in a position to discuss what is being done in their behalf. They do not know why Martinique, which has been handled so gently now is being handled so roughly. They do not know why, under the circumstances, the island should not have been taken into custody a long time ago, eliminating it as a danger spot in the Caribbean and also as a possible Nazi submarine base.

All they know is that Vichy, which committed suicide in the eyes of public opinion almost as soon as it was created by Germany for Germany's purposes, dies very hard in the diplomatic dealings that have raised more eyebrows here and abroad than any other single aspect of American participation in the war.

STABILIZING INFLATION

The showdown being called for on rising prices and the steps being taken to clarify the problem of stopping inflation before it gets out of control are overdue.

The government's drive on wartime inflation began officially two years ago when President Roosevelt asked congress for power to control prices. Since then a series of measures in the field of retail prices, wages, salaries, rents, taxes and profit control have been put into effect, but the cumulative effect has been chiefly to stabilize, not to prevent, inflation.

The question now is whether inflation can be stabilized, or whether attempting to stabilize inflation is like trying to prevent intoxication by sipping the intoxicating beverage from a teaspoon instead of drinking it out of the bottle.

In other words, while the public hoped the government's policy was to keep prices from rising, the effect—and in many cases the intention—of government policy was to keep prices from rising too rapidly. The government now must decide whether it wants to string along with stabilization, or face up to the fact that the inflationary intoxicant, though slipped from a teaspoon, is producing the "inflationary tornado" that President Roosevelt spoke of last April 2 when vetoing the Bankhead bill.

Inflation and frozen costs are incompatible. Labor cannot expect ever-higher wages and an ever-constant cost of living. Farmers cannot expect higher prices for their produce without accompanying increases in the costs of labor and material. The salaried middle class cannot expect anything but the nightmare of rising living costs and stationary income. Politicians cannot expect to take credit for higher income without taking the blame for higher prices. The inflationary spiral cannot be stopped by permitting it to happen, no matter how slowly.

Yet, by hindsight it is plain that is exactly what a great many Americans have been expecting, to their disappointment. On Nov. 28, 1941, when the house of representatives passed the original price control bill after rejecting the Baruch plan to freeze all prices, rents and wages as of a certain date, it cast the die of creeping inflation. A showdown was made inevitable by that decision to try to have inflation and stability at the same time.

THE STARS SAY:

For Wednesday, May 5

THE LUNAR transits operating on this day point to a most intriguing state of affairs, with many surprising and subtle angles to incite ingenuity, skill and initiative. While such cleverness and unusual tactics or ideas may develop along professional, financial or business lines, possibly in connection with large or secret bodies or organizations, there may be danger from use of overshrewdness or erratic or fanciful plans.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is have excellent promise of exceptional success in out-of-the-ordinary channels, either in business, art, professions, politics or diplomacy. But this peculiar or subtle urge may have its objectives defeated by excessive cleverness or erratic ideas, plans or behavior. How to practical tactics in such ambitions.

A child born on this day may have excellent abilities of an exceptional or singular trend, with novelty, subtlety and inspiration at the root of its objectives or creations. Defeat may arise from erratic impulses or strange behaviors.

"THERE GO THE TIRES AGAIN!"

FAINTING WAS "GENTEEL" ONCE

But Women Are Much Tougher Now

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

A SPELL of fainting would be regarded a good deal more seriously now than it would have been a century ago—at least if we can trust the novels of Sir Walter Scott and other fictionists. In those days

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

Ladies fainted when anybody made an indecent—or a decent—proposal to them, when they had bad news from the front, when they were laced too tightly or when a gentleman used a "big, big D" in their presence. The ladies are tougher now.

Brain's Lack of Blood

Still, fainting seldom indicates any very serious disease. In every case it is due, I believe, to a withdrawal of circulation from the brain are constantly changing their caliber and under nervous stress they may go into spasm so that no blood is able to circulate through them and reach the brain structure. Thus any emotion in a susceptible subject can produce a brain without blood. It takes a somewhat severe emotion to produce it in a modern, unlike Sir Walter's young ladies.

Fear is an emotion strong enough to cause fainting; pain, any unusual exertion, or fatigue will deprive the brain of blood.

During the time when I was a life insurance examiner, I had two experiences which have confirmed my belief that fainting is due to withdrawal of blood from the brain.

The first occurred when I was examining a healthy young applicant who was standing at my side while I counted his pulse. My fingers were on his wrist and my eyes were on the watch, so I could not see his face. I had counted about a half a minute when the pulse suddenly stopped. It had been a large, rapid, bounding pulse. The transition was so sudden that I thought the artery had rolled from under my finger. But just then I felt a tug from the young man's arm and I looked up just in time to see that he was deathly pale, and had to put him down on the floor where he quickly revived.

Another Experience

The second experience was similar, except that I was taking the blood pressure. Again the subject was a perfectly healthy, robust man. He was seated at the side of the table with blood pressure cuff in place. Again my eyes were occupied by looking at the blood pressure apparatus, so I did not see the condition of the applicant. What I did notice, however, was that the systolic blood pressure could not be found. The mercury column went down and down, almost to zero, when my observations were interrupted by the patient topping over on the desk. Again, he revived promptly.

Here we have two natural experiments, showing in the one case that the pulse entirely stops at the moment of fainting and in the second case that the blood pressure falls to a level so low that it means no blood can be pumped to the brain.

Some Serious Cases

Although 90 per cent of cases in people under 30 are not serious, there are a few conditions which cause fainting and are serious. One of these is a form of heart trouble called heart block in which the heart becomes very slow—so slow that there are moments when there is no blood in the brain, so fainting results. Hardening of the arteries in the brain will also lead to fainting attacks.

Onlookers and worried relatives observing a person who has fainted should remember that very frequently at the end of a faint there is a slight, generalized convulsion; also that it is a regular thing for breathing to stop entirely during a period of fainting.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

B. O.—Is spastic paralysis hereditary? Does it result from any sort of infection the doctor gives a woman during childbirth pains? If not, what causes spastic paralysis?

Answer: Spastic paralysis is not due to anything that the doctor does to the mother. It is probably due to a hemorrhage in the brain, which occurs during childbirth, but has never been known to be the doctor's fault.

A. B.—A certain boy and I have been contemplating marriage but have hesitated due to the fact that in tracing our ancestry we find that his father and my grandfather were cousins. Do you think that this factor will have too much bearing on our offspring?

Answer: No, you have mentioned a fear which comes up all the time in different cases. But, as a matter of fact, the offspring of even first cousins are usually very brilliant and vigorous.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Clendening has seven pamphlets which can be obtained by readers. Each pamphlet sells for 10 cents. OUR READERS

APPEAL TO MINERS

Editor, The News: It was with a deep sense of shame that I listened to our President as he asked striking miners to go back to work and remain loyal to the trust our boys left with them, when they left home and family to fight and die, for the same monthly wage that the average miner receives for a five-day week.

I spent several years in the mines in the southern coal fields and would be the last man to encourage any drop in a miner's wages. But, how many of us average $7 for a seven-hour day, at present? Very few, I dare say. Surely this is the sort of thing that should make Hirohito rub his hands in glee (so sorry U. S. have no coal).

Let me say in closing, as one miner to thousands of others, let us forget the urgings of the oratorical but unpatriotic Mr. Lewis and unite in a bigger cause, that of freedom and a better world, when the boys come home. Surely then will be time enough to settle monetary bickering. When this is all over we can look our soldier boys in the eye and say we didn't let you down while you were gone; we were right in there pitching!

DEATH GOES NATIVE

By MAX LONG

CHAPTER THIRTEEN

I remembered how I had searched the sampan, found the broken bottle on deck, discovered the locker closed, and had opened it. It was a bad moment when I confessed pulling my fish spear from Delmar's back and reaching it on the cabin top.

Komako stopped eating and stared at me. "You know more than doing that!"

"But I had my initials on it. I had to protect myself. . . . Then, I did nothing. It was a darned thing to do. I know it. Because I took it away with the body of my spear. And I'm pretty sure I had my bloody fingerprints on it."

Komako looked very gloomy. "Now somebody got fire clue against you, if body is found."

"I don't think they want the body found—and I certainly don't! But if there should be a hitch, and I turn up, I'm slated to take the blame. They not only took that spear from my ignition key, too. They want to be allowed to leave here. They're sure the body won't be found."

He chuckled now in a thoroughly manner. "Not you got any clue against them people on here?"

I told of the love triangle I suspected, formed by Josephine, Thornton and Delmar; Of Elaine's peculiar behavior and of the doctors' anxiety to get her away; of her being hit by someone unknown. Komako's face cleared when I spoke of Mrs. Delmar, only when the sampan in a canoe, just before we went out and found the body gone.

"Now we got something!" I warned him. "She said she was looking for her husband and didn't find him on the sampan. And later you say she sent the Hawaiians out in a big search for him."

Maybe she just planting good seeds. Murder is most times because somebody hate somebody. She hate her husband?"

"Search me! I know she was jealous of him."

"Hail!" Komako leaned forward eagerly.

"Not what you think." Then I told him about her fury because Delmar had taken her name off the play they had co-authored.

He looked crestfallen. "That play business not enough for wife to go killing husband?"

"But it could be! You don't know. Besides, the sweeping up of the glass and swabbing every corner—that looks like the work of a woman—a good housekeeper." I was almost convincing myself. "I'll bet Mrs. Delmar's house is neat as a pin."

Komako jingled the keys in his pocket. "If she was looking through your papers—she leave things in your mess. . . . But anyhow, that's good clue, her coming back from sampan." He wrote busily in his notebook, stowed it and his spectacles in his pocket, reached for his lahala hat and thoughtfully switched its fine feather band.

We got to see Mrs. Delmar first. On deck he delayed long enough to inspect the ice locker, remarking as he pulled himself out: "Take pretty strong man to lift heavy body out of here. Mrs. Delmar big strong woman?"

"Just ordinary."

He pushed back the wide hat and scratched his head. His eyes came to rest on the boom rigged from the stubby mast. "Let's see. You was ashore with dinghy. That tackle was dangling, same as always, ready to moor dinghy to when you come back?"

"Why, you're right!" I said, catching his thought. "Simplest thing in the world, if she knows means about boats. She could have swung that boom back over the locker and tied the line to Delmar in two minutes flat. Then all she had to do was wind on the anchor winch and haul him out."

"Sure. Let him down on deck, tie line, put on anchor and roll him over side into water. Anybody can do."

"And that's why it took such a short time—I'm certain I wasn't out of sight of the sampan more than fifteen minutes or so."

He nodded his satisfaction and got down into the dinghy, arranging to tow a canoe which lay alongside. "I borrow this one," he explained, "because nobody was on the beach when I come."

Somewhere on the beach now—several Hawaiian fishermen were folding their nets into the big outrigger canoes. Komako took the cars and shot the dinghy straight toward them.

Komako hailed the Hawaiian fishermen as old friends, shook calloused hands and pounded stout backs. Though he hadn't seen them for fifteen years, the greeting took no account of time. Then he introduced me all around. Henry and old Mokino I remembered from the night before. They also remembered me, especially the wrinkled old fellow whom Delmar had threatened about the pet shark.

"Him aikane for you, Komako?" he asked with evident surprise. He had a deep gruff voice and his sunken black eyes peered at me in a fixed staring way which was not too pleasant.

"Sure, sure!" Komako said proudly. "Hasty best friend I got. And he is just like Hawaiians. Kind heart and everything. You going to like him."

Young Henry, standing out even stronger and handsomer than I had thought, asked politely: "How is your head, Mr. Hoyt?"

"All right," I answered shortly. "Did you bring Komako?"

He nodded eagerly. "Big surprise to find him here. I was glad, too. He will find Mr. Delmar sure."

Several of the others began to grouse about having been routed out in the night to hunt for Delmar, and Komako said gravely: "Me, I think I know where is Delmar. And I want you should help me find him, and not fish today. Hasty got plenty canned salmon on his boat—he fix you up for this time."

Komako's generosity with my food—so typical of Hawaiians, who would be equally generous with anything of their own—brought pleased smiles and nods of approval from me from everyone but old Mokino. Mokino was not pleased, and I wondered if he was the one Hawaiian in the islands who disliked salmon. Then he growled:

"Delmar no good. More better never find."

Komako gave him a sharp glance. "But if he is dead, Mokino, we got to find him. Got to be good Americans, everybody." He turned to the others. "I got cop jobs to do and I want you should all go dive around sampan to look for corpse. You do for me? Sure, sure!" In the old little confidential way that Hawaiians have with each other, he began to hustle them with whistles and tongue clicking. Three big canoes were rolled into the water and they set off—all but old Mokino. He stood apart, much on his dignity, and I noticed that Komako did not include him in his persuasive hustling. When the others had paddled away, Mokino pulled a small canoe into the water, climbed in, and—still dignified—dipped his paddle.

"Is he the chief or head of the village?" I asked.

Komako nodded soberly. "Yeah, like that. And Waimaka is more like old days of Hawaii than anything you see. Fine smart man, Mokino. Fine wife, too. But we got to get on job now."

I was feeling depressed and more than a little resentful at his sending out divers. I had thought he understood it would go hard with me should the body be recovered. But Komako, no matter how great his friendship, was ever implacable in the line of duty. Then, as we trudged up the sand toward the hedge and the pool, I had an electrifying thought.

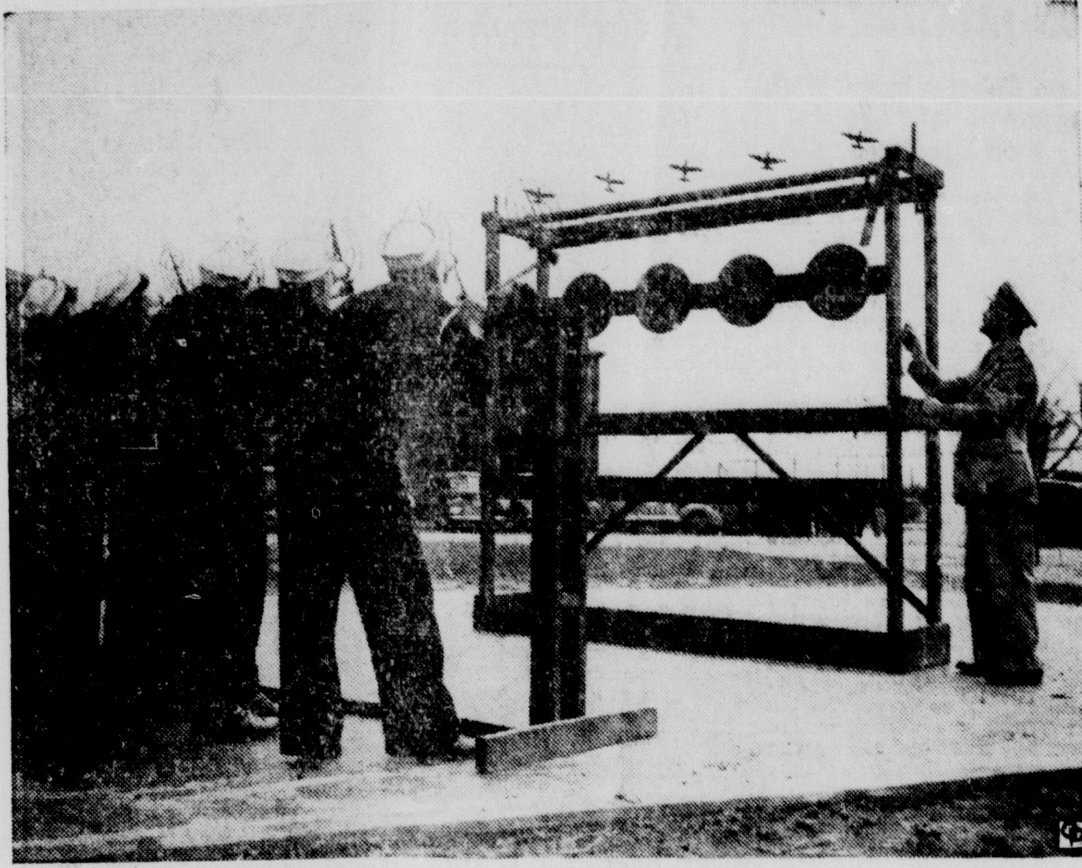

"Komako," I asked, "would a shark eat a dead body?"

"Sure—that's only kind shark would eat in Hawaii."

"Then we're all right! There's a shark in this inlet. That's why the killer tossed that body overboard—he knew it would be destroyed. And without proof of a murder—why, Delmar just ran away, that's all. Your boys will dive—find no body—I'll discover my engine key—and you and I will light out for Lulu-wai."

"Could be," Komako acknowledged. I was feeling enormously relieved as we topped the rise of the beach and dropped down through the hedges. Komako halted and looked

MURRAY HOLDS TO NO-STRIKE PLEDGE

OAKLAND, Calif., May 4—Phillip Murray, president of the CIO, has reiterated his pledge there will be no wartime work stoppages called by Congress of Industrial Organizations unions.

Addressing representatives of the United Steel Workers of America from 11 western states yesterday, Murray said, "My friends, I'm going to tell you—and I tell you with all my heart and soul—I'm not going to break my no-strike pact with the President of the United States of America."

"I should not like to have it said about American labor that you or I leaned over the dying body of an American soldier and said, 'son, you wouldn't have been dying today had I done my job back home.'"

SACRAMENTO, Calif.—"Pee-wee" men, those ranging in height from four feet six inches to four feet eleven inches, or those just under the required military measurements, will probably come into their own in California. A bill is before the state legislature providing for the organization of a "Pee-wee" unit of the State Guard. California is estimated to have 1,000 men under five foot measurement who are anxious to do their bit in the armed services.

"Is he the chief or head of the village?" I asked.

Komako nodded soberly. "Yeah, like that. And Waimaka is more like old days of Hawaii than anything you see. Fine smart man, Mokino. Fine wife, too. But we got to get on job now."

★ A recent order of the War Production Board has placed all services installed or reconnected on or after April 15, 1943, in reserve for possible duty in the war effort.

In addition the order says present subscribers as well as new ones may be asked to share their telephone lines with other parties if this is necessary to provide more lines for customers engaged in direct defense or charged with the responsibility for public health, welfare or security, as classified by the War Production Board in its Order.

We hope and expect that you will not be affected but we want you to know what may be necessary. We know you are as anxious as we are to co-operate fully in giving the war effort first call for telephone service it requires.

RENEW SKIRMISH ON REDISTRICTING

Senate Debates Issue, With Approval of Legislation Predicted

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS, May 4.—A skirmish over revamping Ohio's 22 congressional districts was renewed today in the Ohio senate and sponsors predicted approval of the proposed legislation.

The measure, authorized by Senator Carl D. Sheppard (R-Summit), was defeated by one vote yesterday, but he looked for support today from several senators who were absent on the first roll call.

The senate also took up an administration bill to revise the state utilities commission's procedure of evaluating utility company property for rate-making purposes.

The commission is now confined to the yardstick of reproduction cost new, which Chairman George C. McConaughy estimates has cost utility customers millions of dollars in the last 30 years. The bill would permit the commission to consider any reasonable elements in computing the investment in a utility company.

Recommend Bill

Meanwhile, the senate commerce and labor committee recommended passage of another administration bill increasing employer contributions to the state unemployment insurance fund, and its sponsors hoped to bring it before the senate for a vote tomorrow or Thursday.

It provides for a maximum surtax of eight-tenths of one per cent on the pay rolls of mushroomed war plants, which would produce an estimated $8,000,000 a year additional for the insurance fund, thus strengthening it against post-war demands for unemployment benefits.

The redistricting bill being reconsidered by the senate would be effective in 1951, when the office of congressman-at-large would be abolished and a 23rd district would be created, consisting of Lake county and part of Cuyahoga.

Every 10 years thereafter the 23 districts would automatically rearrange themselves to conform with shifts in population.

More Representation

Senator Sheppard said the bill would provide more equitable congressional representation according to population.

Ohio's congressional districts have not been rearranged since 1911.

The house approved, 97 to 21, and sent to the senate a bill authorizing salary increases, effective from January, 1945, to the end of 1949, for county court clerks, recorders, prosecutors and sheriffs.

The increases would be: 15 per cent on salaries less than $2,000 a year, 10 per cent on salaries between $2,000 and $3,000, and 7½ per cent on those of more than $3,000.

A bill proposing creation of an Ohio Apple Authority to promote the sale of Ohio-grown apples was defeated by the house. The vote was 51 yes to 62 no.

The house completed enactment of legislation giving cities police jurisdiction over city-owned property outside municipality limits, and sent to the senate a bill allowing garnishment of state employees' salaries.

USE HOT WATER FOR HEALTH ...

but use GAS wisely!

Here's how you can help the war effort and your own pocketbook!

In this war emergency it is more important to maintain individual health. One way is to use enough hot water for bathing, keeping the children clean, hair washing, household cleaning, dishwashing and other home uses. For hot water helps you keep your home clear of germs—and that means less danger of infection—consequently a better chance to maintain normal family health.

But because in this area Natural Gas has become a vital war material... because our war industries, in their stepped-up production schedules, are using more and more Gas... it is up to us all not to waste Gas.

War Job First

FEW GIRLS would give up a chance to become a glamorous New York model, but that's just what beautiful Glee Marie O'Neill, 20, above, has done. Offered such a position, she turned it down to continue her vital war work as a pre-flight inspector at the Ford Willow Run bomber plant near Detroit. When the offer came she had just heard that a friend had been killed in the Solomons and decided the war job was "more important than anything else." (International) ed as to any mine which fails to comply with this directive."

But that issue of who will handle permanent settlement of the wage dispute which brought the weekend walkout found both sides still standing pat.

The War Labor board was confident President Roosevelt fully supported its jurisdiction, and that the case will be handled without any deviation from the normal wartime procedure.

And John L. Lewis asserted the United Mine Workers whom he ordered back to work today pending further negotiations, did not retreat when they agreed to the 15-day armistice—that they still refused to meet the case to the WLB.

The next step, he said in New York, is up to Fuel Administrator Ickes, the appointed boss of the government-controlled coal fields.

Board Also Confident. Members of the board, on the other hand, expressed confidence in their position after at least one of them conferred with Stabilization Director James F. Byrnes, and several of the public members flatly implied that they would resist if they lost control of the case.

In a statement issued after a meeting of the union's policy committee, Lewis repeated recent assertions that the miners are "no longer bound by the no-strike pledge," and that, by adopting the "little steel" wage formula, the WLB had "breached the understanding" between labor, employers, and the public and the administration regarding wartime strikes.

Lewis also said "the War Labor board must accept the full responsibility for the situation which he charged to 'distress in the ranks of labor'—apparently replying to President Roosevelt's Sunday night speech in which he blamed the walkout of nearly half a million miners on the national union officials. He added the miners would stand pat on their original demands for a $2-a-day wage increase, portal-to-portal pay and unionization of minor bosses.

RECORDS FALL IN WAR PRODUCTION

Aircraft, War and Merchant Ships Set Pace; Arms Output Short

however, Nelson was able to say:

"In the first quarter of 1943 we produced almost 18,000 artillery pieces, including more than 7,000 anti-aircraft guns and more than 8,000 anti-tank guns. Our factories also turned out about 235,000 machine guns and more than 1,000,000 rifles and sub-machine guns."

Nevertheless Nelson warned that steel production is nearing its peak and that the armament goals cannot be met unless the production pace is accelerated 50 per cent beyond the first-quarter records.

Launching of 134 merchant ships in March indicated that American shipyards had reached a production rate of 18,000,000 tons a year—approximately the 1943 goal.

March arms production, compared with February in the major categories, was shown as follows:

Aircraft, up 11 per cent.
Ground ordnance (tanks, guns, etc.) up 7 per cent.
Navy and army vessels, including ordnance, up 14 per cent.
Merchant vessels, up 7 per cent.
Miscellaneous munitions (vehiculars, uniforms, etc.), up 12 per cent.

Grigsby of Carrolton, and one brother, Emmett Corbett of Bellaire.

Rites will be held at 2 p. m. Wednesday in Cassady and Turkle funeral home. Burial will be in the Alliance cemetery.

Daughter's Leading In Knitting Output

LISBON, May 4—"Like mother, like daughter," the saying goes, but when it comes to knitting the procedure is slightly reversed in the case of Mrs. Thomas Walters of Lisbon, and her mother, Mrs. Dolly Knight of Minerva.

While the mother's prowess at knit-one, purl-two for the armed forces were extolled recently in a newspaper story, the record of the daughter, as revealed at Red Cross headquarters here, shows Mrs. Walters is ahead on the production schedule, having knitted 107 sweaters as well as completing numerous others returned unfinished to the Red Cross, as compared to her mother's 100 sweaters.

Mrs. Walters who spends many hours daily at knitting, which she finds a very pleasant pastime, launched the home production of garments for humanity by knitting for war refugees before "Pearl Harbor" and since the advent of United States into the war has turned to knitting of "turtle neck" sweaters for the navy, and khaki sweaters for the army. In addition, she has knitted two helmets and two scarfs and a pair of socks, and on one occasion used up the odds and ends of yarn by knitting a striped sweater.

Although Mrs. Walters enjoys the work and feels that she is contributing toward a worthy cause, she has doubtless set a record which few have equalled. However, she still insists she could have knitted more but was unable to secure any yarn for months at a time.

ISSUE BLANKS FOR LIQUOR RATIONING

Only a few application blanks were issued yesterday at the Salem state liquor store when registration began for the ration books which Ohioans will need to buy packaged spirituous liquors under a state-sponsored rationing program which is expected to become effective about June 1.

The application forms now available at all retail liquor stores must be properly filled out and mailed back to the store which serves the area in which the applicant resides. Manager Harry Wilson explained.

Persons 21 years of age and over are eligible to sign up, he said. Application forms should be mailed back as soon as possible.

Registrants will be required to furnish proof of their place of residence because the ration program calls for buyers to make purchases from stores in their own neighborhoods. This zone regulation already has been placed in effect in an effort to curb "stooge" and "chain" buying from retail establishments.

Don A. Fisher, director of the state's liquor monopoly, said purchase books, about the size of bank pass books, would be issued in alphabetical order at retail stores beginning May 17. State agencies are expected to close then until rationing starts.

He indicated actual rationing would start about June 1 unless book production problems upset the department's plans.

LOS ANGELES, Calif.—At a meeting here of the executives of the eastern aircraft factories with the heads of those on the Pacific coast, it was established that between them they have an aviation backlog of nearly $17,000,000. Plans were formulated to speed up its liquidation.

YANKS CONTINUE PUSH FROM MATEUR

Ferryville Next Objective As German Retreat Is Extended

El-Bab on the flank of the Medjerda valley thrust.

The remainder of the front, held by the British and French, was alive with artillery fire and patrolling.

The British radio said the Eighth Army had opened a new attack north of Takouna, five miles northwest of Enfidaville on the east coast, with Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery signalling the offensive as usual by a violent artillery barrage.

The communique issued from Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's headquarters described the American and French advances as covering "many miles," and said the enemy had been forced to "evacuate all his forward positions" in the north after "10 days of relentless pressure and much heavy fighting."

The two drives of the Americans and the third thrust by the French and Americans along the Mediterranean coast left some enemy troops stranded in their mountain strongholds in the Jelfa area west of Mateur and an extensive round-up of prisoners was continuing.

Several hundred already had been captured.

Two hundred were captured yesterday.

Cutting the developments which led to the swift break in the situation yesterday, a headquarters spokesman said the Second U. S. Army Corps led by Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton, Jr., was extremely quick to see the significance of Axis withdrawals in the north.

Realizing that the enemy was giving way on a big scale after Sunday's lull, the Americans immediately exploited the situation by bold thrusts which ignored rearward nests left behind to delay the pursuit.

Avoid Hard Fighting

By following rapidly behind the enemy rather than waiting to wipe out these nests, the Americans probably avoided much hard fighting in the rugged mountains while the Germans consolidated their next positions, the spokesman pointed out.

The accuracy with which American artillerymen handled their American-manufactured guns was given a large share of the credit by the spokesman for the sustained pressure on the Germans during the past two weeks which ended in their giving way.

These guns had shelled Mateur severely for several days.

When the Americans reached Mateur they found the Tunis river bridge near the town blown up, but they pushed on toward Bizerte, 18 miles away.

Despite a day of low clouds, dust, haze and thunderstorms, Maj. Gen. James H. Doolittle sent a "strong force" of Flying Fortresses, escorted by Lightnings and Spitfires, against the enemy base of Bizerte and blasted a fleet of more than 100 barges lining the quays where they could be used for evacuation of the enemy's forces.

Considerable damage was done when their bombs landed on jetties opposite the submarine base, on barges at the naval base and in the town near the harbor mouth, pilots reported.

THORNTON WILDER PULITZER WINNER

Controversial Drama, "The Skin of Our Teeth", Declared Winner

NEW YORK, May 4.—Thornton Wilder's drama, "The Skin of Our Teeth," which roused Broadway critics to heated controversy with its satiric survey of the history of mankind, is winner of the 1942 Pulitzer prize in drama.

Six journalists, four men and a woman in literature and a composer also are winners of Pulitzer accolades, the trustees of Columbia university announced yesterday. The individual prizes of $500 each were awarded on the recommendation of the advisory board of the university's graduate school of journalism.

The Omaha, Neb., World-Herald received the award for the American newspaper rendering "the most distinguished and meritorious service" in 1942 for its planning of a successful state-wide scrap metal collection campaign which later was used on a national scale.

To Associated Press Photographer Frank Noel went the news photography prize for a picture entitled "Water" showing an Indian sailor in a lifeboat pleading for water. Noel took the photograph after his ship had been torpedoed by a Japanese submarine in the Indian ocean.

Robert Frost, New England poet, won his fourth Pulitzer poetry prize with his volume of verse entitled "A Witness Tree."

Upton Sinclair, 64-year-old author of 51 volumes, won his first Pulitzer prize with the novel "Dragon's Teeth."

For the first time an annual award in music was made, to William Schumann for his "Secular Cantata No. 2, A Free Song," which was played by the Boston Symphony orchestra.
